

Linda Lewett is an independent producer specializing in cultural programming with over twenty years of experience in visual art, television and filmmaking. After graduating with honors from the American University Film program in 1984, she produced and directed programs for Fairfax County Cable Channel 16 and Channel 10. In 1990 she established a production company to provide media services to cultural institutions and produced several programs for the PBS affiliate in Washington, D.C. In 1999 she founded a non-profit organization for independent productions featuring the arts. In 2002 she relocated to New York and continues to combine narrative, documentary and experimental film techniques.